GERMANS HURLED
BACK FOUR MILES
IN BRITISH DRIVE*English Report Their Retreat to Third Line of Defense.*MORE THAN 2,000 CAPTURED*Operations During Last 24 Hours Declared to be Highly Satisfactory;
Much War Material Taken; French
Repulse Tentative Counter Attacks.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, July 15.—The British offensive was resumed today. The war office announced that at one point the Furians were forced back to their third line positions. More than 2,000 prisoners were taken. The statement from the front, timed 12:50 P. M., follows:

"All continues to go well on the British front and at one point we forced the enemy back to his third system of defense, more than four miles to the rear of his original front
trenches at Fricourt and Mametz.

"In the last 24 hours we have captured over 2,000 prisoners including a regimental commander of the Third Guards division, and the total number of prisoners taken by the British since the battle began now exceeds 9,000.
Large quantities of war material also have fallen into our hands."

GERMANS ARE REPULSED.
PARIS, July 15.—A violent artillery
duel continues in the Meuse sector,
the war office announced today. A German attack on trenches northeast
of the Avesnot region was repulsed.
The official statement asserted, and German attempts to undertake attacks in the Avesnot forest were checked by a curtain fire.

COUNTRIES NEAR A BREAK.
ROME, via Paris, July 15.—A strong demand has arisen in the press and among the public for cancellation of the agreement between Italy and Germany whereby the rights of citizens of each country within the other's domains were to be respected, violation of the agreement by Germany being alleged. The situation is such that the relations of Italy and Germany seem to have reached a critical point than at any time since the war began.

BERLIN ADMITS LOSSES.
BERLIN, via London, July 15.—The continuation of the British attack on the German lines between Amiens and Longueval resulted in their penetrating the German lines and effecting
a gain of territory, the war office announced today. The British also have occupied Trones wood. The fighting is continuing, although the attack
has been stemmed, adds the statement,
which says:

"British attacks which followed the first sanguinary repulse suffered by them north of the Somme, led to heavy fighting. By his forces massed between, Pozieres and Longueval the enemy, in spite of the most severe losses, succeeded in penetrating our lines and gaining some ground. He also occupied Trones wood.
"The attack has been stemmed, but the fighting is being continued."

ITALIAN DESTROYER IS SUNK
BERLIN, July 15.—The sinking of an Italian destroyer by an Austro-Hungarian submarine was announced
in an official statement received today
from Vienna. The announcement follows:

"An Austro-Hungarian submarine on the afternoon of July 10 sunk an Italian destroyer of the Indomito type.
"One of our naval air squadrons bombed effectively military establishments and the railroad station at Pa-
den. The aeroplanes returned, although they were shelled heavily by anti-aircraft guns."

SUPPLIED AT SEA*Floating Drums Contain Oil and Gas
For Submarines.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 15.—The Italian Steamer Duca degli Abruzzi, which arrived here today, left Naples with all lights out and took a zigzag course
through the Mediterranean to avoid submarines.

On July 3 about 5 o'clock in the morning the passengers were aroused by firing. They rushed on deck and found the crew were firing from the gun mounted on the stern of the ship
at a floating object which later proved to be a huge iron drum.

These drums, the officer said, are numerous in the Mediterranean, the Austrians setting them about with supplies of oil and gasoline for the purpose of supplying submarines.

SLEAIN FOR REVENGE*Unknown Man Kills Wife of a Prosecutor Attorney.

By Associated Press.
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 15.—Mrs.
Oscar McDonald, wife of the prosecutor attorney of Buchanan county,
was killed by a bullet from an unknown man at her home about midnight last night, died today without having regained consciousness.
Five shots were fired at her homeland, who engaged in a revolver duel
with the man, who escaped.
McDonald recently has received letters threatening his life.

COKE MEN WIN
A VITAL POINT*Testimony Favoring Inclusion of Connellsville Region in Pittsburgh District Is Admitted.

Special to The Courier.
ATLANTIC CITY, July 15.—C. Andrade, of counsel for the Connellsville
Coal Traffic Association, finally won yesterday in his effort to bring before Examiner Marshall the testimony
heard before the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission recently on the complaint of the Pittsburgh Coal Conpany against freight rates to certain points on the lines of the Pennsyvania. Attorney Andrade did not succeed in obtaining admission of the entire testimony presented in that case, but his offer of an abstract of it Examiner Marshall ruled should be admitted. During the progress of the Harrisburg hearing Charles M. Johnson of the Pittsburgh Coal Company had admitted that the Connellsville coal region should be included in the Pittsburgh district.

In the Harrisburg proceedings the served the purpose of the Pittsburgh operators, but in the proceedings here
it does not, hence the persistent objections of their attorneys to its admission. The victory scored by Attorney Andrade on this important matter served to further strengthen the case of the Connellsville operators, which it is agreed on all sides was exceptionally well prepared and ably presented.

Counsel for the Connellsville Coal Traffic Association having rested their case, the complaint of the West Virginia and Kentucky operators against the 15 cent advance in rates was taken up. The Ohio and Pittsburgh operators joined forces in opposition to their brethren to the south, contending that the tariffs on coal from the more southerly states should be higher than from Ohio and the Pittsburgh districts. When an attempt was made to introduce testimony showing the relative cost of mining in Ohio and West Virginia, Examiner Marshall
sustained the objections of the West Virginia operators.

"We have nothing to do here," Examiner Marshall said, "with what transpired in Ohio, nor are we concerned with social or industrial conditions under which coal is produced in either state. The question before us is the distribution of tonnage."
The railroads which are represented
here have little to do in handling the West Virginia-Ohio case. In combining with other with such vigor
the coal operators are really fighting
the case for the railroads.

FUND TO FIGHT DISEASE*Rockefeller Foundation Gives $50,000
to Combat Infantile Paralysis

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 15.—A marked
drop in temperature failed today naturally to reduce the fatalities and development of the epidemic of infantile paralysis. During the 24 hours ending at 10 o'clock this morning there were 27 deaths and 144 new cases of the disease reported in the five boroughs of New York City.

To control the epidemic which has been felt in all parts of the country,
the Rockefeller Foundation today announced the sum of $50,000 to those in charge of the fight against the disease.
Mayor Mitchell has been named a member of the committee through which the fund will be disbursed.
Since the epidemic started on June 26, 19 days ago, 1,551 cases have been reported and there have been 389
deaths.

SPAIN CLAMPS LTD ON*Censors All Dispatches Because of Big Railroad Strike.

MADRID, via Paris, July 15.—The government has established a military censorship of all press dispatches.
Military law was declared throughout Spain on Thursday as a result of the railway strike which seriously affected operation of lines of the northern system. A Madrid dispatch on the night of July 13 said that a general strike had been announced for July 16.

REACH BOQUILLAS; LYNCH
GIVES THEM AUTOMOBILE

By Associated Press.
BOQUILLAS, Tex., via army field
telephone to Marathon, Tex., July 15.—
Reinforcement of troops for protection against bandit raids in the Big Bend
country began today with the arrival here on a motor truck train of one company of the third battalion,
Tenth Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard; and the dispatch of a troop of the Sixth Cavalry
to reinforce B troop at Glenn Springs.
The remainder of the Pennsylvania
battalion at Marathon will be transported to border points as rapidly as possible.
Troops also are being rushed from Alpine and Marfa to the border as a result of repeated warnings that bandits were advancing to the Rio Grande to raid this exposed part of Texas.

THRILLING FIGHT AGAINST STORM IS MADE BY COLLIER*Crew and Marines are Taken Off by the Doughty
Tug Wellington.*BATTERED BY A HURRICANE*Naval Vessel Soon Becomes Helpless and Rolls at Mercy of the Seas Until Aid Responds to Wireless Appeal; Ship Abandoned; Survivors Return.

By Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, S. C., July 15.—Tales of the unsuccessful fight of the naval coaster Hector against a gale which blew from 110 to 120 miles an hour,
great seas and disabled engines, and the daring rescue of 102 men by the tug Wellington were brought here today by the first survivors to land.

The Wellington, storm battered and having lost her two barges, worked for six hours taking off the crew and 80 marines which the Hector was taking from Port Royal to Guantanamo.
Captain Joseph Newell of the Hector
and about 20 men were taken off later
by the steamer Cypress and the broken Hector was left to her fate
seven miles northeast of Cape Romano gas buoy. No member of the ship's company was lost, but four were hurt.

The Hector left Charleston lightship Wednesday. Thursday morning at about 4 o'clock she ran into the worst of the hurricane sweeping up the coast.
Huge waves broke over the vessel and poured down the hatches, blowing the deck and disabling the engines. When she was unable to make way, wireless calls for help were sent out.

As the big collier rolled at the mercy of the wind which was driving
her toward Cape Romano, fires broke out in the hold. They did not gain headway, but added to the terror of those aboard who were huddled in the lifeboats.

The Wellington reached the collier
at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, about one hour after the Hector had grounded 14 miles northeast of Cape Romano. The Hector's launch has been disabled by the storm, but a small boat with a line put out and succeeded in reaching the Wellington. The dangerous work of transferring the men was immediately started and continued for six days.

HOOVER IS CHAIRMAN*Commissioner Will Handle the Campaign for Democrats.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, July 15.—The Democratic county committee met this afternoon and elected George P. Hoover, county commissioner, chairman to handle the coming campaign. The only other name suggested, that of B.
H. McClelland, was withdrawn when he refused to serve.

Efforts had been made to induce former Judge R. E. Unbel to take the county chairmanship, but he refused to permit consideration of his name.
The meeting was well attended, but not so enthusiastic as in former years.

NOT A WARSHIP*State Department Decides Deutschland Is Merchantman.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 15.—The State Department formally ruled today that the German submarine Deutschland is a merchant vessel and entitled to treatment as such.

In announcing the ruling, Acting Secretary Polk said it was not to be taken as a precedent and that any similar cases arising in the future would be dealt with on their own merits.

PROPERTIES ARE SOLD

At an auction of the properties located on the new high school site,
conducted this afternoon, the Armstrong property was sold to W. S.
Sanner for $130, while the Dull school room was sold to Michael Hoffer for $35. A. R. Morris bought the Freed building for $115.

HIIL CLIMB IS OFF

Uniontown formally threw up the sponge this afternoon and called off
the hill climb. Highway Commissioner Black killed the Summit races some days ago, but it took the county some time to realize that it doesn't own the hills.

WEST PENN WILL BUILD A BRIDGE OVER THE YOUGH*Demand for Means of Crossing stream
at South Connellsville Is Recognized.

It became known today that the West Penn has in contemplation the construction of a suspension footbridge across the Yough river above
South Connellsville. Work is expected to start in the near future.
With some 250 employees in and around the power house, and the prospect of probably an equal number being employed in the new Western Maryland yards, many of whom reside
in South Connellsville and vicinity, a means of crossing the stream has become necessary.

Formerly it has been the custom to use the Baltimore & Ohio trestle, but this has been closed to pedestrian travel, making it necessary for the roundabout route by way of Connellsville to be used. The West Penn expects to provide a better means of crossing.

Persons interested in the effort to secure a county bridge across the Yough river in the vicinity of Greene Junction declare that this is only one of the many good arguments
they will present to the commissioners. Another is that the present Yough river bridge in Connellsville is not able to properly care for the large amount of traffic, and must either be rebuilt in the near future, or another structure erected. The construction of the South Connellsville bridge, they say, would not only relieve this congestion, but reduce materially the distance between Connellsville and Dunbar.

REPUBLICANS MEET*Decide to Let Committee Arrange for Reorganization.

By Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 15.—
With 23 of the 30 members present in person and the absentees represented
by proxy, the new Republican state
executive committee assembled here today for organization. After some discussion it was decided to place the entire matter in the hands of a special committee pending the outcome of the contest for the gubernatorial nomination. Huntington was selected as the place for holding the state convention
August 1, when the platform will be adopted, presidential electors selected and candidates for judges of the supreme court nominated. The committee ratified the selection of national committeemen of Virgil L. Highland of Charleston and the delegates to the Republican national convention.

FIRE STILL RAGES*Greek King's Summer Home Destroyed
at Many Perish.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, July 15.—The fire which destroyed the summer residence of King Constantine of Greece, situated at Trato, on the outskirts of Athens,
is still raging in the forest in which the royal chateau stood. A Havaas dispatch from Athens says it is feared
the flames will reach the city.

Among those who lost their lives
in the fire were Colonel de la Porta
of the engineers and M. Chrysospethis, the head of the royal secret service, and 20 soldiers. Fifty soldiers were injured while engaged in rescue work.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 15.—T. Palmer Miller, member of the 1912 class of Dar-mouth College, was shot and killed
early today by James Garvey, a detective sergeant who mistook him for a burglar. Miller was at the home of a friend when a burglar was discovered
entering the house.

While members of the family and several guests were pursuing the burglar across the lawn, Sergeant Garvey arrived and fired two shots,
one of which struck Miller.

PAYMASTER ROBBERED*Is Held Up and Robbed of $2,000 in Cash.

By Associated Press.
BOSTON, July 15.—Samuel A.
Campbell, paymaster of the Colonial
Can Company, was robbed of a payroll of $2,000 today by two men, one of whom fired a shot which struck him
in the head. The wound was slight.
The holdup took place in the business district and in the presence of a number of persons.

Both robbers escaped after warning
back a crowd that attempted to follow them.

ALUMNI MEMBERS SELL TICKETS TO FENCE THE FIELD*Take Over Chautauqua Distribution for Benefit of Athletics.*MEMBERS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC*Confident They Will Raise Sufficient Funds to Enable Them to Construct a Fence About Fayette Field, Which Will Make Football Profitable.

The Connellsville High School
Alumni Association last night decided to take over the sale of tickets for the local Chautauqua. The question was discussed at a meeting held in the high school building. It was not very well attended but those who were present were very enthusiastic about the ticket selling plan.

Approximately 400 tickets have been pledged, and the alumni will have to sell 350 more before receiving any money. The first $1,500 goes to the Chautauqua people. The proceeds of the next 125 tickets, or $250, will go to the Chautauqua and all money after that will be split evenly.

The alumni plans to use the money
to erect a fence around Fayette Field.
This members have been considering this improvement for some time, and now they have the chance to earn money for the purpose. They intend to work hard to get it. Unless a fence is erected there will be no big football games here this fall. While $250 might not be enough to put up the fence the School Board would probably be willing to furnish the balance.

The alumni will not be responsible
if the required number of tickets are not sold. The guarantors will stand the loss.

"If we only sell the first 350 tickets,
and don't make a cent for the alumni,
we will still be doing something worth while," said President John Duggan.
"We will be doing something for the community in the cause of good,
wholesome entertainment."

The members of the alumni do not anticipate much trouble in making a little money for their association.
They feel that Connellsville will support the Chautauqua royally this year.
Mr. Duggan will appoint a committee to arrange for the ticket sale at once.
Attorney R. S. Matthews explained
the plan to the alumni on behalf of the guarantors, Superintendent of Schools
Stanley P. Ashe, who first suggested the alumni members as distributing agents for the tickets, spoke last night.
Other guarantors at the high school were E. C. Higgins, E. C. Moore, and W. D. McGinnis. Mr. Hickey, advanced man for the Chautauqua, was also present.

MILWAUKEE, July 15.—Seventy-thousand persons are expected to march in a preparedness parade here
today. "Alcoves were closed voluntarily for the first time in the history of the city and all business generally
was suspended.

To Sell Buildings

The school board will sell the buildings occupying the site of the new high school this afternoon at 2 o'clock.
The Freed and Armstrong properties and the Shawm store room will be sold. Charles M. Fee of Uniontown, will be the auctioneer.

FRICK OVENS
SHUTTING DOWN*Decrease in Demand Causes a Curtailment of Output by Big Coke Concern.

It was learned today that declining demand for coke on the part of the United States Steel Corporation furnances had caused the curtailment of output on the part of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. All of the ovens in blast at the Valley and Dorothy plants
were ordered out, while the activity of Youghiogheny works was curtailed in half. Curtailments at other plants bring the total number of ovens banked to between 500 and 600.
At Dorothy, 145 of the 230 ovens had been in blast, and 88 of the 200 at Valley. Half of the 189 ovens which were fired at Youghiogheny are to go out.

There has been a cessation of the high pressure at which Steel Corporation plants have been operating during the past several months, indicating something of a slump in the trade.
The unutilized steel orders at the close of June were materially below those at the close of May, which shows that the mills are catching up with deliveries rapidly. Any decline in the steel trade is promptly reflected in the coke market.

AUTO MAGNATE KILLED*Chalmers Executive Drops from Tenth Story of New York Hotel.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 15.—Paul Smith,
vice president of the Chalmers Motor Company, was instantly killed today
when he either jumped or fell from the window of his room on the tenth floor of the Hotel Biltmore.

Mr. Smith, who came to New York on July 10 on business, had complained of ill health and had summoned his wife
from Detroit on the plea that he had permanently poisoning.

Mrs. Smith reached New York early today and was about to have breakfast
with her husband in his apartment
when she missed him. She said she did not see him drop from sight or hear an outcry. Mr. Smith was 38 years old.

an open grate.

The body was taken charge of by Funeral Director J. L. Stader and was removed to the residence of the mother of the deceased, Mrs. Caroline Johnston, 508 North avenue. Funeral services from the house tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Hill Grove cemetery.

The hot wave is still among those present in the coke region. For the 24 hours ending at noon the maximum temperature was 93 degrees, the high-

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

The Goodfellowship Union of the United Brethren Sunday school was entertained last evening at the home of James M. Rude in Park street. Members of the Young Men's Class were guests. A meeting of the Otterbein Guild was held last evening in the church.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist Church held last evening at the home of Mrs. J. C. McElanathan in South Pittsburg street was the largest and most enjoyable meeting of the season. A musical program consisting of piano solos by Mrs. A. N. Stahl, Miss Grace Robinson and vocal solos by Mrs. A. R. Boyer and Miss Florence Street was delightfully rendered at the close of the business session. Delicious refreshments were served. Several new members were received. Guests of the society were Mrs. Alice Bell of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Joseph Dixon of Confluence; Miss Florence Street; and Mrs. W. E. Dubois of Gatesville, Tex., the latter two guests of the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. N. Stahl.

Mrs. S. W. Metzler of Uniontown, formerly of Conneltsville, entertained the Pantrywork Club of which she is a member, yesterday at the Summit.

Business of a routine nature was transacted at the regular meeting of the Young Ladies' Guild of the Trinity Reformed Church held last evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith in East Main street. One new member was received. Refreshments were served.

The Gallagher farm in Dunbar township was the scene of a delightful picnic given yesterday afternoon and last evening by the West Side Needleworkers. Forty-four persons, including members and friends of the club attended. Various amusements were indulged in and an elaborate picnic supper was served. Out of town guests were Miss Mary Frances Sherick of Uniontown; Miss Marian Trout of Scottsdale; and Mrs. Earl Porter of Pennsylvania, N. J. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carson Paine in the West Side.

The winners in a contest conducted by the Sunday school of the First Methodist Episcopal Church were entertained at a victory concert last evening in the church by the losing side. Refreshments were served.

Large and enjoyable was a lawn party held last evening on the grounds of Mrs. William Rogers' residence in East Main street for the benefit of the suffrage cause. The large lawn was brilliantly illuminated with Japanese lanterns, presenting a very attractive scene. The hours were from 8 to 10 o'clock and during that time the ladies and their aides in charge of the booths and tables were kept busy serving the crowd. A musical program including orchestra selections by James W. Butmore, and John Rasmussen, vocal solos by Miss Ellen Mae Brown and Gerak Schooler and piano solos by Miss Clayton Campbell, was rendered. Quite a neat sum was realized.

The regular monthly business and social meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Methodist Protestant Church was held last evening at the home of Miss Jennie Penn in Eighth street, Greenwood. There was a large attendance. Following the business meeting refreshments were served.

Mrs. Jerome McCormick was hostess at a daintily appointed children's party this afternoon at her home in West Fayette street in honor of the fourth birthday of her granddaughter, Effie Mae Benford, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Benford. The house was from 2 to 4 o'clock. The afternoon was delightfully spent at various amusements followed by refreshments. Out of town guests were little Miss Blossom Murray, Mrs. B. C. Fair of Scottsdale and Mrs. W. R. Jones of Wilkesburg.

The Ladies' Guild of the Trinity Episcopal Church met to sew for a bazaar to be held in the near future, yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Wilder in South Conneltsville. The regular meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. J. Smith in Greenwood.

The marriage of Miss Viola Brennan of Steubenville, O., and Joseph Lemko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lemko of this city, took place yesterday in Steubenville. Mr. Lemko and his bride will go to housekeeping in Steubenville, O., on the return of the bridegroom from a visit with his parents.

NEW MILITARY ORDER MAY THIN COMPANY D RANKS

Members Take Advantage of Married Man Rule, Few Troopers Will Be Left.

Officers of the Tenth Regiment are much worried because of the recent order of the Secretary of War permitting married men to leave the service if they wish. They are especially alarmed in regard to Company D of Conneltsville, for it has the married men of the local company take advantage of the order, there will be only one sergeant and forty privates left in the company.

It is feared that quite a number will resign from the service for the boys are not finding life on the border very pleasant. On July 10 a typical desert storm struck their camp and made their situation miserable. The flying sand and the hot wind was new to the guardsmen and they did not relish their first experience with the climate of Texas.

The heat every day is almost unbearable. Acile McCormick of the hospital corps states on a postal card mailed from Fort Bliss on July 11, that the thermometer had reached 105 degrees.

The boys are held up, however, by their hope of seeing immediate service. A letter from a local man with the troops indicated that Company D is scheduled for an early start for the Big Bend district. The guardsmen are eager for service and feel that if once they could get into a skirmish with the Mexicans their miseries of camp life would be forgotten.

Yet the camp is not without its humorous incidents which tend to lighten the boys' up. When Private Henry Hostetter of Company E picked out Captain J. E. Zundell's tent ropes to fall over while on guard duty, and fell headlong into the captain's cot, the officer emerged from his tent in wrath and the whole camp roared. The irate captain ordered that Hostetter be confined to quarters for a day, and the private will probably "watch his step" hereafter.

Another interesting feature was the order of General Charles M. Clement, commander of the Seventh Division, that guardsmen must leave side arms in camp when they go sight-seeing in El Paso. General Clement fears that the men might be tempted to use their guns on the thousands of sneering Mexicans in the city. While there have been no actual hostilities, he believes that the new order will avert possible trouble.

SING "NOBODY HOME"

Christian Endeavorers Cause Stir Before Governor's Mansion. Special to The Courier.

HARRISBURG, July 15.—Christian Endeavorers who marched in the "white parade" of the state convention delegates late yesterday created considerable stir by chanting "Nobody Home" when they passed the executive mansion. The parade was a big affair, hundreds marching to the capitol at the close of the afternoon session. Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh was not in Harrisburg this week, and the delegates voiced considerable disappointment because they did not hear an address from him.

The parade was marked by singing of songs as the marchers passed through the residential section. At the capitol some of the endeavorers with flags climbed on the base of the Barnard statues. Then the assemblage was photographed.

The following officers were elected upon the report of the nominating committee: President, Dr. Clarence H. Chain, Philadelphia; secretary, H. B. Macerney. Among the vice presidents elected was Rev. Lloyd Goodnight, Uniontown. Miss Anna C. Cunningham was elected superintendent of the prison department.

AIMS TO PLEASE ALL

Director Caputo Likes Verdi. But is Not Averse to Trying Berlin.

Director Charles Caputo of Caputo's band, which will give four concerts at Shady Grove tomorrow, promises that the program will be so arranged as to please the lovers of the better grade, and at the same time contain enough popular music to satisfy those who like ragtime.

Personally he believes that Verdi was the greatest composer that ever lived, but thinks that America is developing a new school of music and that some of the songs of Irving Berlin will remain popular for generations.

Mr. Caputo has made many friends during his previous visits here and a big crowd is expected to attend each of the concerts tomorrow.

SWITCHING CHARGES TO BE ABANDONED BY RAILROADS

President Willard of the B. & O. Wins Big Concession for Shippers.

The greatest concession made shippers by the railroads in recent years has been obtained by President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad as the result of an agreement just concluded between that road and both the Pennsylvania and the Western Maryland by which switching charges are to be eliminated.

Under the terms of the agreement, the three railroads are to make local deliveries without charging for the switching service. In other words, a shipper located on the Baltimore & Ohio may consign a car on a Pennsylvania siding without being required to pay a prohibitive price for switching. As a result of this arrangement, factories and establishments having a siding on one of the three roads may get delivery from points on any of the other roads. Mines on the Baltimore & Ohio, for instance, will be able to deliver coal to consumers located on the Pennsylvania or Western Maryland sidings.

President Willard has long advocated such service. He held that excessive switching charges were merely multiplying patrons of the roads. These charges run from $14 to $30 a car, which in most instances is prohibitive.

The agreement is to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission on August 1, in order that it may become effective September 1.

THEY MAKE A HIT

Local Druggist Shares Auto With Members of Deutschland Crew.

An automobile in the Elks parade at Baltimore, occupied by Jack Wessell, pharmacist at the Conneltsville Drug Store, four members of the crew of the Deutschland, and others, attracted considerable attention and applause all along the route of the Elks parade, according to a Baltimore newspaper. The car was decorated with American and German flags. The members of the submarine who accompanied Mr. Wessell were Edward Mittlerer, Tony Born, Arthur Gellensfield and Wilhelm Grotter. Wessell brought home with him as a souvenir a silk hat presented him by the engineer of the Deutschland.

J. T. Wurtz, John Kopart, William Dull, Rockwell Dull, Claude Hay and Wessell are home from the convention. They report a fine time.

The Grim Reaper

ADALEAN ROSE COLLINS.

Adalean Rose Collins, 11 years old daughter of Frank A. and Rosella Collins, died last evening at the family residence, 116 East Gibson avenue, following an illness of complication of diseases. Funeral from the house Monday morning at 8 o'clock and from the Immaculate Conception Church at 9 o'clock. Interment in Hill Grove cemetery. Deceased is survived by her parents, and two brothers, Ralph Collins of Youngstown, O., and Theodore Collins at home.

Have Lawn Party.

About 22 young people from Vanderbilt and vicinity motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bern T. Hill near Greenwood last night and spent a very delightful evening. The trip was made in Smith Grimm's large truck. All kinds of games and other amusements took place on the lawn, which was illuminated with Japanese lanterns. Delicious refreshments were served from long tables arranged on the lawn.

Fishermen Plan Trip.

Dr. C. H. Poole, C. M. Poole, Edgar B. Null, Howard Croushore, Jesse Wharton, and W. L. Hixon, all of Ruffsdale; R. P. Miller of Youngstown, Ohio; Frank Overholt of New Stanton, and C. J. Poole of Conneltsville, will leave Monday morning by automobiles for the Cacapon river in Hampshire county, West Virginia, to fish. The party will be absent for about ten days.

WARNING To Gas Consumers

On account of repairing our 12-inch, main trunk line near Messmore, Pa., our gas supply from West Virginia will be shut off at 1.00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, July 16th, 1916.

We expect to complete the repairs within four hours. As soon as the repairs are made, the gas will be turned on.

During the time of repairs we will rely upon our local field and expect to have a sufficient supply for all domestic consumers. However, consumers are requested to watch carefully the gas supply.

Those who leave their homes for the day are requested to shut off the gas.

The gas supply to public buildings and stores should be shut off after business hours, Saturday night, or early Sunday morning.

If the gas supply goes off, call the office of the company.

The offices of the company will be open Sunday to give any information concerning the gas supply.

BUSINESS MEN AND SUNDAY SCHOOLS TO HOLD A BIG PICNIC

Prizes to be Given Away at Oakford Park are on Display.

OTHER NEWS OF MT. PLEASANT

Directors of the Needlework Guild Send Night Letter to the Board to Learn Whether Boys of Company are in Need of Any Other Study.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, July 15.—The picnic that will be given at the Union Sunday School and Business Men's picnic at Oakford on the 20th of this month are on display in Kolbacker window. The Baptist Sunday school will give a ticket free to every member of its school and in each instance the Sunday schools will take care of those who wish to go and are not able to buy the tickets. The amusement committee will meet tomorrow with the other members of the various committees and report on the program made out. This program will either be adopted or changes made so that one can be. The refreshment committee will also report just what they will serve on the grounds whether it will be lemonade, coffee or tea water.

The directors of the Needlework Guild and their friends who are interested in the boys at the border have completed the 112 caps and have them ready for shipment, but to know just what else the boys do need, prepared a night letter and sent it to the board. The boys have only to say what they need and the women will make an effort to furnish it for them. It was understood that they stood in need of sun glasses and if this is the case the women will try to furnish them.

A large number of persons watched last evening for the eclipse of the moon which was visible from most any place in the town.

Rev. T. C. Harper, Rev. C. P. Salladay, Rev. W. T. Lytle and Rev. J. L. Updegraff were the local ministers who attended the temperance meeting in Greensburg yesterday. A number of other local people were also in attendance.

Congress Called Upon for Assistance in Fighting Children's Plague, Infantile Paralysis.

Alarmed by the spread of infantile paralysis in eastern states the directors of the public health service met in Washington and decided to ask congress for an appropriation of $100,000 to be used for infantile paralysis research work and in fighting the disease. The urgent need of money was made clear by C. H. Lashier of the federal service, now in charge of the work in New York. He declared that the extent of the research work would depend solely upon the amount of money available. Only about $15,000 is now on hand. It is becoming more and more evident that the federal service faces a serious problem in preventing the epidemic from becoming widespread throughout the east. With about 100 new cases discovered in New York city daily the city authorities took drastic measures to fight the plague, which leaves children paralyzed if it does not kill them. Children were barred from all theaters and moving picture houses, Sunday and summer schools were closed, picnics and other gatherings of children for-bidden and a general cleanup inaugurated. Many persons were arrested and fined for leaving garbage uncovered and for other violations of the sanitary code. It is held by many scientists that the common housefly is responsible for the propagation of infantile paralysis, as it is for the spread of many other diseases. Pictures show: No. 1, children playing among gutter refuse; No. 2, the housefly; No. 3, passing candy from mouth to mouth, a dangerous practice.

RINGWORM ON FACE AND BODY

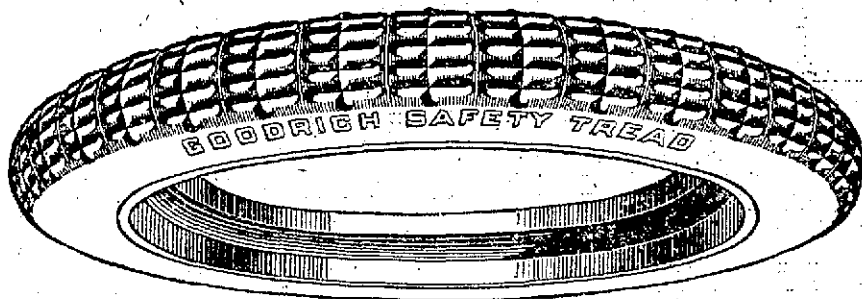

Of Boy. Itched Very Much. Scratched In Sleep. He Couldn't Bear His Clothing Near Eruptions.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My boy began scratching his face and body, and his blotches came out and were into ringworms. The eruptions were both large and small and they spread too. The skin was red and itched and the ringworms itched very much and he scratched in his sleep. He couldn't bear his clothing near the eruptions and he scratched them till they got very sore."

"He had this trouble about one year. I read about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I decided to send out for some. I used them only a few times and he hasn't been bothered since. He is well." (Signed) Mrs. Jennie M. Wilson, 142 Jackson St., Philadelphia, Pa., July 24, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail With 2-cp. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

Help us to HOLD DOWN—Tire Prices

TIRES, and GASOLINE, "make the Wheels go round!" A Car in the Garage COSTS as much as a Car-on-the-Road, but it pays no dividends, on the investment, so long as it STAYS in the Garage.

The VALUE of the Car,—to its Owner,—narrows down, in the ultimate, to the precise number of Hours he USES that Car, yearly.

If a $2,000 Car be owned for, say, 4 years (then sold for $600.) there has been $1,400 of Car-Value absorbed by the Owner,—equal to, say, $350. per year. If then, that Car be USED 913 Hours in the year, it would cost him but 38 CENTS per Hour, for Car-Use.

But,—if he used it only HALF that number of Hours, yearly, the Car would cost him 100% MORE for every Hour he used it.

How MUCH he uses it will depend,—to a considerable extent,—upon the PRICE of TIRES and GASOLINE.

This was one of the reasons why we (Jan. 31st, 1915) inaugurated the Goodrich "FAIR-LIST" Propaganda against High-prices, and Padded-Price-Lists, on Tires.

It is a further reason why we NOW keep our own Goodrich Prices DOWN to the very moderate "Fair-List" figures here quoted.

BETTER Fabric Tires are NOT made, and cannot be made,—at ANY price,—than are produced by The B. F. Goodrich Co.

A 15%, to 50%, higher price could well be justified for these same Tires, by fair comparison with other Tires sold at 15% to 50% higher prices.

Will you help your own interests (present and future), by further expanding the Sale of that Tire which demonstrates its intention, through LOWERING the Cost of its Tires to you, with every INCREASE in its Volume?

Will you thus endorse, and support, the Goodrich Policy which automatically PREVENTS OTHER Makers from forcing UP the Market on Tires?

Compare Goodrich Fair-List prices, here quoted. Bear in mind that NO Fabric Tires,—at ANY price,—are "better,"—no House more Fair, and LIBERAL, on proper Adjustments.

THE B. F. GOODRICH CO., Akron, O.

Goodrich "Fair-List" Prices

30x3	Ford Sizes	$10.49	34x4	$22.40
30x3 1/2	(Safety-Treads)	$13.40	35x4 1/2	$31.20
32x3 1/2		$15.45	36x4 1/2	$31.60
33x4		$22.00	37x5	$37.35

NOTICE.—These Tires are as perfect as Fabric Tires can be made. But, should any dissatisfaction whatever arise, with any Goodrich Tire, its Owner is invited, and REQUESTED, to take the matter up promptly with us,—the Makers. He will find that Fair, Square, and LIBERAL treatment will always be extended, on all proper adjustments.

SWITCHING CHARGES.

With a vision which makes him one of the most progressive railroad managers of the times, President Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, has effected an agreement between his road, the Pennsylvania and the Western Maryland which constitutes one of the most significant forward steps in the modern tendency to broad gauge policies in railroad management, expansion and control. It marks, too, the culmination of years of effort on part of the Baltimore & Ohio's chief executive to secure the abolition of a more or less arbitrary and unreasonable custom which has done much to retard the growth of the trade of the railroad and has restricted, had often wholly prevented, the industrial development of certain communities.

Deified the accomplishment of President Willard consists in having made an arrangement, to become effective September 1st, which will eliminate the objectionable switching charges. This agreement provides that shippers located on either the Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania or Western Maryland roads, will be enabled to deliver freight at and receive from the rails of either of the other two roads without the payment of charges other than the through shipment rate. Under existing regulations the switching charges, in the case of extensive industries, have been a very heavy burden, while smaller establishments have been even more seriously handicapped.

President Willard, who has long contended that these charges have been extortionate and have prevented the proper expansion of railroad business, initiated the movement for their abolition, and has worked successfully to that end. His attitude on the question is made clear in the official announcement he has made of the consummation of the agreement with his neighboring transportation interests. In this he says:

"I believe that the railroads should give the public the very best service possible, assisting it in every legitimate way to develop its business and to make easy trade expansion, remembering always that an increase of business rebounds inevitably to the corresponding benefit of the railroads. Hence it will repay a railroad to aid by every means at its command the development of business along its lines even though there shall be no revenue therefrom to be expected for an indefinite time. And I have always believed, too, that we should depart from the narrow policy, that a railroad should, so far as possible, confine to its own rails freight originating thereon. In fact, it is a very good thing for a railroad to keep in view at all times the interests of its patrons by finding new markets for their goods, at the same time enabling them to procure the goods and materials they may require from those new markets. Such a policy I hold constitutes real service, a service the results in genuine business friendships.

Connellsville has an interest in the achievement of President Willard in that the new order will remove a condition that has operated to effectively prevent securing new industries to locate here. In earlier operations of the Chamber of Commerce the discovery was frequently made that the inability to secure an abolition of the switching charges caused prospective industries to steer clear of Connellsville. Persistent effort was made to have these charges modified or wholly eliminated, but without success, largely because of the failure to secure unanimous assent of the railroads of the Pittsburgh district to a change in a time-honored plan.

President Willard has led them to the light.

INAMOUS FOR KEPHART.

J. V. Clark of Washington, the Washington nominee for State Treasurer, has announced his withdrawal, saying: "I have been a Republican since the 19th election and am still proud Mr. Hughes for president and the party nominee for the other office. I did not seek the Washington party nomination for State Treasurer, and I have no regrets in my determination to withdraw from the ticket."

With Clark's withdrawal H. M. Kephart is left in undisputed possession of the Republican field, he having already received the Republican, Bull Moose and Personal Liberty party nominations.

It only remains for the Democrats and Prohibitionists to make it unanimous for our popular fellow townsman.

CHAUTAUQUA AND BARGAINS.

The Chautauqua is becoming to be recognized as an institution of such real value that the communities in which it is annually held are almost without exception, devising ways and means of making it a permanent affair. The experience of Chautauqua towns is that its recurring summer engagements have within them possibilities other than affording a means of entertainment and instruction of a useful and uplifting character.

Over in Washington the merchants made the discovery this season that Chautauqua Week presented exceptional opportunities for stimulating retail trade while helping the Chautauqua cause. The merchants joined in a plan to hold seven special bargain days during the week of the Chautauqua. Adopting an appropriate slogan they advertised these sales and the daily Chautauqua features that ally. Large crowds were drawn to the stores as well as to the Chautauqua. The venture proved so successful for both that there was unanimous agreement to have a Chautauqua Week and Chautauqua Bargains again next year.

There's a hint in this for Connellsville.

ville, inasmuch as the time for holding the annual bargain days is approaching. No merchant ought to object to boosting the Chautauqua, especially when it has been shown that the Chautauqua boosts business.

The Pittsburgh coal operators talk about the economic importance of the product of the Connellsville region, but the facts are simply that changing conditions make it desirable for the Connellsville region to engage in the coal trade, and they want the Pittsburgh district and late to which they are entitled. There is no reason why the Connellsville region should be discriminated against in its coal rate because it pays a higher rate on its coke. "The economic importance" of the Connellsville coke region remains much the same as it always was.

An Ohio man gets the Supreme Court job, but the Presidency won't go to New Jersey again. Ohio is not a pivotal state.

A number of New York militia companies enroute for the Mexican border raided stores and shops at Erie and Cleveland, alleging that they had nothing to eat for 36 hours. They were hardly outside of their own state and should have been provided with adequate travel rations. Either their commissary department is rotten or the soldiers themselves are subjects for such a market. The conduct of the 25th regiment in its gratifying respect to this behavior on the part of the national guard of the biggest state in the Union.

The year 1916 is not going to be a summerless summer. It has changed its mind.

Unknown demands safety votes and declares that the citizens voted to become a third class city for the sole purpose of compelling the railroads to inaugurate this protection. We are sure that the citizens of safety first, not abolition, led to Connellsville's city government. Perhaps, but the example of Connellsville helped some.

The hot wave abideth with us.

"Can the leopard change his spots?" queries the "Intention Standard," Democratic organ of Fayette county. He queries. Neither can the Tammany Tiger change his stripes. They are the same this year as they were in 1912 when President Wilson wouldn't look at them. Yet such are the soothing influences of ambition that this year again the President gently stroking them and softly patting the purring beast.

There will be room for advancement in the Mexican border service if a lot of the regular army colonels are retired as seems probable.

The erud war with Mexico may be over since it was never rightly begun, but the Tenth regiment is looked for to stay on the border. In the meantime the dependent members of the regiment's families are being looked after for an indefinite period. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has created a fund of $100,000 for this purpose.

It wasn't a rainless moon, either.

The Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette says the Connellsville people have come to regard the National Pike as their own and they naturally feel accelerated by the decision of the State Highway Commissioner against the bill eliminating the name of the Connellsville people is being used in vain in this matter.

"It's fine weather for the crops and the summer excursions."

The President sails on Chesapeake Bay where the waters are not rough and the sharks are tame.

The Allied drive drives on.

Water power on navigable streams may now be had under government lease and regulation. It will be a popular power if the charges are not too high and the regulations too exacting.

Democratic House Leader Kitchin, announces that President Wilson's legislative program has been completed, and the House awaits further orders. The President is the biggest political boss of modern times.

The Public Service Commission upholds the just nature of the same commission which we were repeatedly told in Democratic circles, represented nobody but the corporate class.

The natural gas will probably be shut off for awhile tomorrow afternoon, but if the weather keeps at its present temperature we will not feel the need of it.

The sharks stories do not keep the people out of the ocean at Atlantic City.

The Deutschland is declared to be a most harmless vessel. The type is new, but it promises to become very popular if the war continues longer.

In his efforts to pose as President of the world, Wilson forgets that he is President of the People at the present writing he is also boss of the Democratic Party.

The Daltonville sports-for-revenue are getting ready to punch the pickle again. State Highway Commissioner Black will be done unless he gets enough State Troopers in the vicinity to control the situation.

An east wind brings no luck.

Motorists not only run down pedestrians but they also push each other off the road occasionally and never stop to look back. Pershing development is found in plenty of places outside of the pen.

The new Supreme Court Justice has no whippers and is presumably satisfied with the "Intention New Freedom Standard."

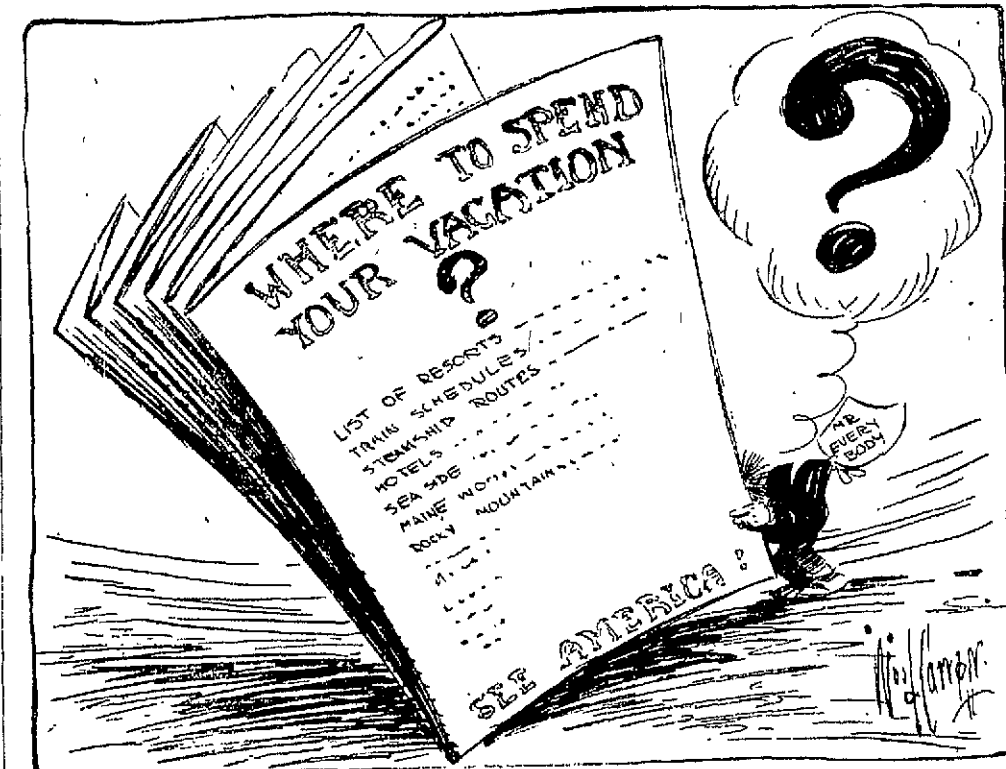

The Pittsburgh operators are almost as disenchanted with their lot as the Pittsburgh miners.

The Connellsville milk and ice fund has no takers, but the spirit was right, and the summer is not yet over.

Fair fama had a brief flirtation with another heavenly body last night, but she always returns to her steady company.

The hot weather is hard on old folks and young.

The Monessen Independent expresses surprise that Connellsville, "built about the September 1914" girls about the bank of the river bank. It isn't so bad when the keep on the river banks. Some places they work the streets. But of course not in Monessen.

A Bigger Question Than the Tariff!

Editorial Wisdom

The "Irwin Standard" sounds the warning to look out for dog days, sunstroke and "tummy" troubles from under-ripe fruit.

The Altoona Tribune takes comfort in the assurance that there will be a certain amount of summer after all.

The Greensburg Tribune calls on those persons who think there was anything wanted by Colonel Butler that he really failed to get before leaving for the border to suggest it at once.

The Butler Times, with an unaccountable lapse from its sturdy heroism, makes a declaration that since the Democrats are in power just now every little town in the southern states wants its share of the pork and there are enough members of Congress of the pork barrel caliber to vote the money of the Federal treasury for this purpose and then either give a large dollop or provide some new means of taxing the people still more generously to pay for the pork.

The Washington Observer, with a desire to hasten its statement, and regarding its own distinct recollection of details, corrects the Fairmont West Virginia which refers to Connellsville girls bathing in September month. September, says the Observer, wasn't bathing; she was hardly waiting naked bath.

The Ekins Inter-Mountain, reminding its readers that the Connellsville girls bathing in September month, says the Observer, wasn't bathing; she was hardly waiting naked bath.

The Washington News has a tip that Mr. Cavanaugh is thinking of after walking from his sick, thank you.

The West Newton Times-Sun says that since the Chautauqua has gone there is nothing to do but work.

Thin Men

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Odds Old Swarth."

If there is anything more ridiculous than a fat man in a two-piece suit, it is a man who is so thin that his legs start up when he sits down. Nature is just what you need when she makes a man as thin as a needle. It is a good thing to be thin, but it is a bad thing to be too thin. A thin man is a man who is so thin that he can see his own ribs. A thin man is a man who is so thin that he can see his own spine. A thin man is a man who is so thin that he can see his own heart. A thin man is a man who is so thin that he can see his own soul.

This man is composed of uncolored bones and very little meat. From twenty-two to twenty-four inches. A drink of water swells them slightly and when they sit down in street cars they have to hold newspapers in front of themselves to keep other people out of the same places. One of the hardest things in the world to see is a thin man who is in a hurry and has to wear a red necktie.

This man is often healthy and lives a great age, but always disappointed when they are in a hurry and have to wear a red necktie.

This man is often healthy and lives a great age, but always disappointed when they are in a hurry and have to wear a red necktie.

There are a Great Many Reasons

for the immense business and successful operation of the sixty-three stores of the Union Supply Company. The number of retail merchants in groceries and provisions has multiplied many times within the last few years; yet in the face of this strenuous competition the business of the Union Supply Company has expanded and grown steadily greater from year to year.

The reasons for this wonderful growth and success will be readily observed by anyone who becomes a customer of one of their stores. You will find attractive up-to-date stores, with the highest quality of goods, at prices as low or lower than other merchants ask for inferior goods; you will find all food-stuffs handled under absolutely sanitary conditions; you will find progressive management, with neat, courteous and obliging clerks to give you prompt attention; you will find prompt delivery service. In fact you will find every possible reason connected with retail merchandising to become a permanent customer of the Union Supply Company. We are experts in supplying satisfactorily every household need.

MOTOR TO CHALK HILL.
Thirty ministers and physicians with their wives, motored to Chalk Hill and had luncheon on Thursday. They spent the afternoon mountain climbing and sightseeing.

WORK PROGRESSING.
The work of the bricklayers has been completed on the new United Brethren Church to which the steel goes in. The steel is expected here today and will be laid on Monday and Tuesday, when work will be resumed by the bricklayers.

GIVE A SHOWER.
Misses Edna and Lou Stauffer gave a shower at their country home, Zephyr Glen, yesterday afternoon for Miss Gertrude Cox whose engagement to R. Bell was recently announced. The guests were entertained on the porch and lawn. The amusements for the afternoon were cards and fancy work. A buffet luncheon was served on the lawn. Among those present were Miss Vera Gilchrist of Williamsburg, Mary Lou Cox, Anna Dick, Zella Lowe, Marion Bell, Hazel Johnston, Edith Patton, Margaret Flonerty, Ruth Weimer and Ethel Shelar.

RAISE NEAT SUM.
The Methodist Episcopal Home Missionary Society met at the church and the annual report of the treasurer was read showing that with the Junior Mission Band they had taken in $762 the past year. Owing to the hot weather the program and refreshments were dispensed with and the meeting made as brief as possible.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.
The Silver Thimble Club gave Mrs. H. B. Lee a very pleasant surprise in honor of her birthday at her Edwin avenue home on Thursday evening. It was also the second month birthday of her granddaughter, Jane Newton, daughter of Mrs. Ray Newton of Ellwood City, who is visiting here. The affair was held on the porch. There were 24 present. The baby was presented with a gold locket with a diamond setting by the club.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

MEYERSDALE.

MEYERSDALE, July 15.—The Mercantile Volunteer Fire Company were rendered a banquet on Thursday evening by the citizens of the town who wished to show their appreciation to the firemen. The affair was held in the Municipal Building where the firemen have their headquarters. Over 100 firemen, their wives and citizens of the town attended. Messrs. J. F. Teich and R. F. Mason were the instigators and their work has been highly commended. J. N. Naugle acted as toastmaster. After the banquet the speechmaking began, there being a number of the citizens and firemen taking part. The last speaker was R. F. Mason who gave a very complimentary talk to the firemen and at the close presented them with a purse containing over $200, this being collected from the citizens of Meyersdale. To this the president of the fire company, W. H. Deeter, responded, thanking each and every one who had helped them.

New York's Famous 69th Loses Officers; Bliss Sent to Border.

The Sixty-ninth New York, the "Lightning Infantry," got under way for the Texas border, but under circumstances that caused a veritable explosion in Camp Whitman. At the very moment of entrainment a telephone message was received from Major General Wood at Governors Island relieving Colonel Lewis D. Conley and Lieutenant Colonel John Q. Phelan of their commands. The only explanation vouchsafed was that these officers were laboring under "physical disabilities."

The whole camp was thunderstruck by the news, but the men of the Sixty-ninth were more than that. They were in despair. To fight without Colonel Conley seemed even worse than remaining listlessly at Camp Whitman, and a more than ominous murmur was heard in the ranks. The men are closely attached to their officers, who have worked hard in the service.

With congress clamoring for information as to the treatment received by the national guard and press dispatches coming in from various sources relating the trials to which the men are being subjected en route and of the lack of sufficient equipment, Major General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff of the army, was sent to the border to make a thorough inspection of all conditions.

Facts Versus Fallacies

FACT is a real state of things. FALLACY is an apparently genuine but really illogical statement or argument.

THE two terms, Prohibition and Temperance, are confounded by many persons as having the same meaning. Even many newspaper and magazine writers (whose minds are illuminated with volumes of learning), preachers, statesmen and others fall into the same error.

WEBSTER'S Dictionary, an authority among scholars, defines Temperance and Prohibition as follows:

TEMPERANCE, n. (From the Latin, temperantia).
1. Habitual moderation in the indulgence of the appetites and passions; moderation, as, temperance in eating and drinking; specifically, moderation in the use of intoxicants. 2. Voluntary forbearance. 3. The rule of "Not too much."

TEMPERANCE is self-imposed and self-enforced. Temperance suggests self-control, self-denial, the measure of abstinence being proportioned to the individual's idea of what is best in that respect. Temperance always implies use, but forbids abuse. Temperance raises the standard of morality through the will-power.

PROHIBITION, n. (From the Latin, prohibitio.) 1. Act of prohibiting or interdicting. 2. A declaration or injunction forbidding some action. 3. Specifically, the forbidding by law of the sale and, sometimes, the manufacture of alcoholic liquors as beverages.

PROHIBITION is imposed by some upon others without their consent and in spite of all protest. Prohibition forbids use of liquors, even in moderation. Prohibition shackles the spirit of American liberty. Prohibition tyrannizes over the lives of others. Prohibition, reduced to its simplest term, says that because some few men get drunk nobody should take a drink; that because those having defective wills do not use the beers, wines and liquors of civilization in moderation, therefore, no one may indulge in them at all. Prohibition attempts to control personal habits and customs by legislation.

IT is a FALLACY for the Prohibitionist to say that he favors Temperance—when it is a FACT that Prohibition and Temperance have nothing in common.

GIOVANNI BOTTEGA.

GIOVANNI BOTTEGA, leader of the New York City Concert Band which will be heard here on the fifth day of the Chautauqua, proved the world as concert master of the Banda Rossa—a brilliant musical organization of which he was conductor for twenty years. And in the New York City Concert Band he has brought together a group of artists fully as capable as those in the former company and, indeed, the personnel is largely the same. It is under the leadership of Giovanni Bottega that the New York City Concert Band has won the noteworthy reputation which it enjoys in New York City and throughout the East—a reputation equaled by but few similar companies. Its repertoire is practically unlimited, including popular favorites as well as gems from the opera and the classics.

NEW PARAMOUNT THEATRE WILL OPEN ITS DOORS TUESDAY

Fine Picture Playhouse of Wagner & Wishart is Now Completed.

SAFETY FIRST THE WATCHWORD

Proprietors Declare Every Effort Has Been Made to Eliminate All Hazards. Pipe Organ a Feature; Interior Decorations Are Very Elaborate.

The new Paramount Theatre, under the management of Wagner & Wishart, will be thrown open to the public on Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. With the completion of the building, Conneltsville is provided with one of the most modern and equipped picture houses in this section. The building adjoins the Globe Theatre in North Pittsburgh street, which is to be abandoned.

The new structure is a two-story brick building. It is fireproof, save for the building which has been over the building has been over the building, especially with regard to fire-proof operating booth, which is separate from the building. On entering the theatre one is at first greeted by the handsome decorations, the stage settings representing an Italian garden. Extending from the pipe organ is a large flower bed, while at either side of the screen are transparencies, round which are morning glories and other artificial flowers. The rich hangings of green velvet harmonize with the general color scheme of the interior of the structure, made blue, yellow, and pink. The large yellow panels on the walls are mounted with blue and red and of pink roses, while the steel ceiling is done in white, is bordered with blue and pink.

The roof is supported by three 12-inch steel beams, the ceiling with five structural beams, and the balcony with three 30-inch web girder steel beams.

The seating capacity of the building is about 500, and owing to the large number of exits, the standing room capacity is about 300. The main auditorium will seat about 400 persons, exclusive of the balcony. There are eight boxes on the first floor and balcony. Six will seat eight persons each, while two, one at each end of the balcony, will accommodate four persons each. There are two sets of stairs leading to the balcony. This seating arrangement has been so planned that every one in the house will have an unobstructed view of the screen. Newsletters can seat themselves with little discomfort to those already seated. There are three four-foot aisles on the first floor, two four-foot and one five-foot aisles on the balcony. The building is equipped with ten exits, making it possible to empty the house in a short time. Three on the south end and one on the north end of the building open into paved alleys. Three in the rear lead into a 20-foot alley, while two from the balcony lead to the two fire escapes. The other is at the main entrance. All doors are double and are equipped with automatic latches.

The building is finished in hard wood. The ventilation has received great attention, so the air will be as pure and wholesome as possible. In the steel ceiling, which is 17 feet high, there are five branch ventilators. The indirect lighting system is used for illumination.

The operating booth is built in the alley in the rear of the building. It is equipped with everything necessary for absolute protection, being constructed of brick and steel. It is 9 by 16 feet, and has a nine-foot ceiling. It is built 21 feet from the ground and the revinder is separated from the machine booth by a steel door. Two new simplex machines are used. The box office in the center of the lobby is large and roomy.

A feature of the new theatre is the Sebring pipe organ, which is equipped with violin, organ, chimes, bass drum and many other attachments. Miss Marie Curly of Pittsburgh, will preside at the organ in the afternoon and evening.

The lobby is separated from the main entrance, which is equipped with double swinging doors, by green velvet portiers and is enclosed from the theatre by a green velvet curtain extending the entire width of the theatre, which is 40 feet. The screen is about seven and one-half feet from the floor. At the south end of the lobby is a small room in which Porter Critchfield will conduct a confectionery store. A window opens into the lobby of the theatre. The room at the north end of the lobby will be occupied by Alderman S. H. Howard. Also

At the Theatres.

SOISSON THEATRE.

"SUDDEN RICHES."—The World Film Company present Robert Warwick at the Soisson Theatre in two five reel drama, "Sudden Riches." It is the story of the haves $5,000,000 can cause in a small family. What would you do if you had $5,000,000? That is the problem which confronted Robert Greve and Marion, his young wife, when Abner Greve, Robert's uncle, made him sole heir of his vast fortune. It was given him for spite, and for the sole purpose of ruining him financially and morally, because the uncle felt sure that he would not make good use of the money, that he would soon waste through it, and end up a physical and moral wreck, result in breaking up his happy home, and otherwise, working entirely to the detriment of the young man. How he had the millions, spent them recklessly, suffered terribly, supported a Broadway street, estranged himself from his wife, she from him, and how, when apparently on the very edge of the brink, their little daughter was taken sick, bringing both parents to her bedside, is all most dramatically told in "Sudden Riches," with Robert Warwick, Clara Whipple and Gerda Holmes in the leading roles. Marion and Robert, their souls seared and scorched by the night of suffering, begin to realize that all their troubles emanated from Uncle Abner's legacy.

"THE STING OF CONSCIENCE."—A three reel Rex drama of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police featuring Doris Pawn and Sydny Ayres. It is the story in which a strong man's faith in women is utterly destroyed. Later he meets a young girl who revives it. "The Clever Mrs. Carter," is an Imp comedy with Edith Roberts and Harry Beulah. It is a story of a wife who cures her husband of the stinging habit by entertaining the new found object of his affections in her own home. Monday, the sixth episode of the interesting serial, "The Mysteries of Myra," with Jean Southern and Howard Eastbrook. Tuesday the Red Feather five reel human interest drama, "Thrown to the Lions," with Mary Fuller.

GLOBE THEATRE.

"THE DANGER LINE."—A 3-part Kessany drama is the feature attraction today. Rose Lane has scored a success in college theatricals and won the congratulations of the school. John Herriman, a New York star, a quiet honorable man in the early thirties has seen her and tells her the portrait was excellent. Hardly had she received such congratulations when she was summoned home by the death of her father. On her return home she found her mother in dire need and abandoning all hopes of going upon the stage Rose starts out to secure a position. She gets work as typist in an office of a theatrical manager. Inadvertently she meets Herriman, who is to play the lead in Jermaine, the theatrical man's new adventure. Herriman recalls the ambition of Rose and arranges for her to receive a small part. The leading lady is infatuated with Herriman but he ignores her. To further complicate matters the rough director makes advances to Rose and is likewise spurned. Jealous of the star's interest in the girl, the leading lady attempts to injure her. Falling she refuses to go on the opening night. Rose requests the chance to take her place and makes good. A Ham and Dud comedy, and a Biograph drama in two parts, are also included in the program. The last attraction at the Globe will be Monday when "Dorian's Divorce," a live part Metro attraction, will be presented. Lionel Barrymore, Grace Valentine, Edgar L. Davonport and

Connellsville's Biggest and Best Newspaper

THE COURIER is the only afternoon newspaper in Fayette county which receives the service of the greatest newsgathering organization in the world—The Associated Press.

THE COURIER prints more news, local and telegraph, than any other paper in the county. It prints better and later news of the world than any other afternoon paper circulating in the county, Pittsburgh not excepted.

THE COURIER gives its readers more local news than any other newspaper. Best of all, the news is clean and fit to read.

THE COURIER has the most extensive staff of correspondents. Every important community in Fayette, Westmoreland and Somerset counties has a representative.

THE COURIER offers its readers as many special features as any other newspaper, and more than most. The list includes such distinguished names as Walt Mason, George Fitch, Voight and Sterrett, the comic artists; and other specialists in the field of literature, art and photography.

THE COURIER is the only newspaper in a Pennsylvania town the size of Connellsville which maintains its exclusive correspondent at Washington.

Summed up briefly, THE COURIER spends more money on its news department than any two Fayette county newspapers.

That tells the story why THE COURIER is Connellsville's biggest and best newspaper. It is without a real competitor in its field.

others are featured. Tuesday the new Paramount theatre will be opened with "The Heart of Nora Flynn," starring Marie Doro, and the first episode of "Gloria's Romance," with Bill Burke in the leading role. Manager C. A. Wagner has secured excellent attractions for the entire week. Charley Chaplin will be seen Wednesday in one of his recent comedy reissues, "The Pawnshop." In addition to this Company D boys at Mount Gretna, will be shown.

SMITHFIELD.

SMITHFIELD, July 15.—Mrs. Leslie Campbell of New Salem, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Frank Sutton.

Mrs. Arthur Pringle of Fairchance, called on relatives here Thursday. Mrs. O. S. Brown and son, Warren, were callers in Uniontown yesterday. Benton & Montleith have put the ice plant in operation after it had been idle for a year or more.

Mrs. Ernest Malone was a Uniontown caller Thursday. Mrs. Snider Hagio and children of McKees Rocks, are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Sutton.

Charles Breakhorn of York Run, was a thorough business visitor yesterday. Samuel Thompson is very ill at his home here.

H. O'Neil was transacting business at Uniontown Thursday.

Frank Dietrich of Point Marion, passed through to Uniontown where he transacted business Thursday.

H. C. Ellis, supervising principal of the Nicholson township schools, is taking a course at the West Virginia University at Morgantown to better fit himself for the duties of his position.

PERRYOPOLIS.

PERRYOPOLIS, July 15.—Mrs. Mike Hanlin of Whitsett was calling in town yesterday.

Dr. Katherine Smith of Bellevue is visiting friends in town for a few days.

The regular monthly business and social meeting of the Epworth League was held in the church last night with about a hundred members and several visitors present. After a regular old fashioned Methodist hand-shaking dainty refreshments were served by the committee. The young folks then went on the church lawn and had a general good time in playing games and watching the eclipse of the moon. A novel feature of the meeting was a cake donated by Mrs. Dillon for the occasion which contained a coin and the members all appreciated the kindness of Mrs. Dillon very much.

Miss Jane Luce of Bellevue is spending a few days in town with relatives.

John Krepps of Wick Haven was calling on friends in town last night.

CHAPTER XIV.
At Hangman's Gulch.

OUR visit to the town we postponed from day to day because we were either too busy or too tired. We thought we could about figure out what that crude sort of village would be like. Then on Saturday evening our neighbor with the twinkling eye—whom we called McNally without conviction because he told us to—told us that there would be a miners' meeting next day and that we would be expected to attend.

Accordingly we visited the town. The street was full of men idling slowly to and fro. All the larger structures were wide open, and from within could be heard the sounds of busy machinery, loud laughter and noisy talk. At one end of the street a group was occasionally a horse race, and toward this Don Gaspar took his immediate departure. A smaller group surrounded two wrestling matches. At one side a jumping match was going on.

The two gambling places and saloons were hard at it. The low rooms were full of smoke and crowded with slowly idling men. In contrast to the deadly quiet of such places in San Francisco, these were full of noise and hubbub. The men moved restlessly, threw down their little bits of dust lazily and accepted victory or defeat with very audible comments. The gamblers, dressed in black, pale, steady eyes and silent behind their layouts.

It was about 1 o'clock when the meeting was brought to a formal conclusion. The crowd dispersed slowly in different directions and to the different occupations and amusements. We wandered about all eyes and ears. As yet we had not many acquaintances and could not enter into the intimate, bustling life of the old town. There was enough to interest us, however. A good many were beginning to show the drink. After a long period of hard labor even the most respectable of the miners would have at times strange reactions. That is another tale, however, and on this Sunday the drinking was productive only of a considerable noise and bustle. Two old cowboys, head to head, were bragging inebriatedly of their prowess as cowboys. A small but interested group edged them on.

Yank and I then thought of going back to camp and began to look around after Johnny, who had disappeared when McNally rolled up, getting us to stop with him.

"You don't want to go home yet," he advised us. "Evening's the time to have fun. Never mind your friend, he's all right. Now get ready to go."

We Found Johnny, Rather Flushed, Ducking a Faro Bank.

disadvantage of living off where you do. My hangout is just down the street. Let's have a drink."

We accepted both his invitations. Then, after the supper, plans afloat, we sauntered down the street, a vast leisurely expanding our horizons.

We entered the gambling rooms, of which there were two, and had a drink of what McNally called "42 caliber whiskey" at the bar of each. In one of them we found Johnny, rather flushed, kicking a faro bank. Yank suggested that he join us, but he shook his head impatiently, and we moved on. In a tremendous tent made by joining three or four ordinary tents together a very lively fiddle and concert were in full blast. We entered and were pounced upon by a bustling group of laughing men and had to join in the festivities.

About 10 o'clock we were getting tired, and probably the reaction from the "42 caliber whiskey" was making us drowsy. We hunted up Johnny, still at the faro game, but he positively and impatiently declined to accompany us. He said he was ahead—or behind, I forget which. I notice both conditions have the same effect of keeping a man from quitting. We therefore left him and wandered home through the soft night, wherein were twinkling stars, gentle breezes, little voices and the symphonies of great trees.

Johnny did not return at all that night, but showed up next morning at the diggings, looking bleary-eyed and sleepy. He told us he had slept with a friend and replied rather curtly that he was a "little behind the game." I believe myself that he was cleaned out, but that was none of our business. Every night we divided the dust into five parts. Don Gaspar and Vasquez got two of these. The remainder we again divided into four. I took charge of Tinbot's share. We carried the dust always with us, for the camp was no longer safe from thieves.

About this time the first of the overland wagon trains began to come through. Hangman's Gulch was not on the direct route, but some enterprising individuals had found our trail fairly practicable for wagons and teamsters shorter than the regular road. After that many followed, and soon we had a well cleared road. They showed plainly the hardships of a long journey, for the majority of them were thin, sick looking and discouraged. Few of them stopped at the diggings, although most had come west in hopes of gold, but pushed on down to the pastures of the Sacramento. They were about worn out and needed to recuperate before beginning anything new. Some were out of provisions and practically starved. The Yankee storekeeper sold food at terrible rates. I remember that quinine, a drug much in demand, cost a dollar a grain. We used to look up from our diggings at the procession of these sad-faced, lean men walking by their emaciated cattle and the women peering from the wagons and be very thankful that we and decided against the much touted overland route.

One day, however, an outfit went through of quite a different character. We were apprised of its approach by a hunter named Bagby. He leaped down the trail to the river level very much in a hurry.

"Boys," he shouted, "quit work! Come see what's coming down the trail!" with which he charged back again up the hill.

His great excitement impressed us, for Bagby, like most of the old-time Rocky Mountain men, was not ordinarily what one would call an emotional individual. Therefore we dropped our tools and surged up the hill as fast as we could go. I think we suspected Indians.

A train of three wagons drawn by strong oxen was lumbering slowly down the road. It differed little from others of its kind, save that the cattle were in better shape, and the men walking alongside of the tall, competent backwoodsman type, seemed well and hearty. But perhaps a hundred yards ahead of the leading wagon came a horse, the only horse in the outfit, and on it riding side-saddle was a girl. She was a very pretty red-cheeked girl, and she must have stopped within a half mile or so of the camp in order to get herself up for this impressive entrance. Her dress was of blue calico, with a white yoke and heavy bouffant or puffs. Around her neck was a black velvet ribbon. On her head was a big leghorn hat with red roses. She rode through the town, her head high, like a princess, and we all cheered her like mad. Not once did she look at us but I could see her bosom heaving with excitement beneath her calico and her nostrils wide. She was a remarkably pretty girl, and that was certainly the moment of her triumph.

About this time we had to come to some sort of a decision, for our provisions were about exhausted. We had no desire to replenish our stock from that of the local storekeeper. We were doing pretty well in the diggings, but we had also fairly healthy appetites, and I am convinced that at the prices that man charged we should have no more than kept open. Williams, the storekeeper, was levying double profits, one from us and one from the overland immigrants. Don Gaspar proposed we send out Vasquez with all the horses to restock at Sutter's Fort. We were a trifle doubtful as to whether Vasquez would ever come back, but Don Gaspar seemed to have confidence in his man. Finally, though a little doubtfully, we came to the plan. Don Gaspar sent out also to McCallan for safe keeping his accumulations of gold dust; but we did not go quite that far. In view of probable high prices we instructed him with eighteen ounces for the purchase of goods.

While he was away we came to another decision. It had been for some weeks preparing. The diggings were becoming overcrowded. Almost every foot of the bar was occupied, and more men were coming in every day. No longer could the newcomer be sure of his color the afternoon of his arrival, but was forced to prospect here and there up and down the river until he found a patch of the pay dirt. Most trusted simply to luck, but some had systems on which they worked. I have seen diving rods used. The believers in chance seemed to do as well as any one else.

But also, our own yield was decreasing. The last week we had gained only nineteen ounces all told. This might be merely a lean bit of misfortune, or it might mean that we had taken the best from our ten claims. Since the human mind is prone to changes, we inclined to the latter theory. We were getting restless. No miner ever came to California who did not believe firmly that he would have done much better had he come out one voyage earlier, and no miner ever found diggings so rich that he had not a sneaking suspicion that he could do even better "a little farther on."

Our restless mood was further increased by the fact that we were now seeing a good deal of Sam Bagby, the hunter. He and Yank had found much in common and fostered of enclaves before our campfire.

Bagby was a man of over fifty, tall and straight as a youngster, with a short white beard, a gray eye and hand, tanned flesh. He was a typical Rocky Mountain man, wearing even in the hottest weather his fur cap with the tall hanging behind, his deer-skin moccasins and his thrashed buckskin hunting shirt. Mining possessed no interest for him whatever. He was by profession a trapper, and he had crossed the plains a half dozen times.

"No mining for me!" he stated emphatically. "I've prospected around after the stuff for awhile, till my hands swelled up like plover and my back cracked like a frozen pine tree in the wind. Then I quit, and I stayed quiet. I'm a hunter, and I'm making a good living, because I ain't very particular on how I live."

"But why don't you fellows branch out?" Bagby always ended.

He and Yank smoked interminable pipes and swapped yarns. Johnny and I liked nothing better than to hang quiet and listen to them. Bagby had come out with Captain Sutter and told of that doubtful soldier's early skirmishes with the Indians. His tales of the mountains, the plains and the game and Indians were so much romance to us, and we both wished heartily that fate could have allowed us a chance at such adventures.

"But why don't you fellows branch out?" Bagby always ended. "What do you want to stick here for like a lot of groundhogs? There's rivers back in the hills a heap better than this one, and nobody that you'd have the place plumb to yourself. Git in where the mountains is really mountains."

"If Sam Bagby would join us it might be worth trying," we came to at last.

But Sam Bagby scouted any such idea. "I ain't that kind of a tomfool," said he. "If I want to paddle my hands blue I'd do it yere. I couldn't make more'n a little anyway. I tell you I ain't got no use for yore plumb dog grubbing!"

Then McNally had an inspiration. "Will you go, Sam, if we pay you for going?" he asked.

"Sure," replied the trapper at once. "I'm a laborin' man. I'll go anywhere I'm paid to go."

It came out that Bagby's ideas of proper compensation were his supplies, $15 a week in gold and a drink of whiskey twice a day! In all this gold country he was the only man I met who genuinely despised money. I really think we were hurried to our decision by this unexpected reasonableness on his part. At any rate, we decided definitely to go.

There were nine of us—Bagby, Yank, Johnny, Bagby, myself, Don Gaspar, Vasquez, McNally, Buck Barry and Missouri Jones.

Bagby got us up long before daylight. The air was chilly, in contrast to the terrific heat to be expected later in the day, so we hastened to finish our packing and at dawn were off.

Until about 8 o'clock we journeyed through a complete solitude then we came upon some men digging in a dry wash. They had piled up a great heap of dirt from a hole. We stopped and talked to them and discovered that they were working what they called "dry diggings." The pay dirt they excavated from wherever they found it, called it in a convenient place and there left it until the rains should permit its washing. They claimed their dirt would prove to be very rich, but I thought myself that they were laboring in great faith. Also we learned what Bagby had known right along, but which he had not bothered to tell us—that we were now about to cross the main overland trail.

We stopped that night near the road and at a wayside inn or roadside of logs kept by a most interesting man. He served us an excellent meal, including laid eggs, and afterward joined us around the fire. He was an Italian, short, stocky built, with close curly hair, a rollicking, good natured face, and with tiny gold rings in his ears. Johnny and he did most of the talking, while we listened. No part of the civilized world seemed to have been visited by this pair. Johnny mentioned Paris. Our host added an intimate detail as to some little street. London appeared to be known to them from one end to the other; Berlin, Edinburgh, St. Petersburg even, and a host of other little fellows whose names I never knew before and cannot remember now. They swapped rumors of the streets, the restaurants and the waiters and proprietors thereof; the alleys and byways, the parks and little places. I know in a general way that Johnny had done the grand tour, but the Italian, with his gold earrings and his close, brown, gold-limbed peasant face, puzzled me completely. How came he to be so traveled, so intimately traveled? He was no sailor. That I soon determined.

The two of them became thoroughly interested, but after a time the native courtesy of the Italian asserted itself. He evidently thought we might feel left out of it, though I think the others were, like myself, quite fascinated. "You like music?" he smiled at us eagerly. "I gotta my Italian fiddle, Ne?"

He arose at our eager assent, pushed aside a blanket that screened off one end of the log cabin and produced his "Italian fiddle"—a hand organ.

At once the isolation of the wide wandering among the many cities the intimate knowledge of streets and of public places burst upon my comprehension. I could see our host looking upward, his strong white teeth flashing in an ingratiating, fascinating smile, his right arm revolving with the crank of his organ, his little brown monkey with the red coat and the anxious face clambering.

Next morning we crossed the overland trail and plunged into a country of highest of high hills, of deep canyons and bold, rocky ridges. The open spaces we had left behind and the great heat. Water flowed in almost every ravine, and along its courses grew green grass and wild flowers.

CHAPTER XV.
The Strike.

WE awoke the fourth morning to a bright day. The helmet quail were calling. The bees were just beginning a sun warmed hum among the bushes. A languorous warmth hung in the air and a Sunday stillness. It was as though we awakened to a new world, untold by men, which was, indeed, a good deal the case.

While we ate breakfast we discussed our plans. The first necessity, of course, was to find out about gold. To that end we agreed to separate for the day, prospecting far and wide. Bagby kept camp and an eye on the horses. He displayed little interest in the gold proposition, but insisted strongly that we carry both our rifles and revolvers. It would be difficult to describe the thrill of anticipation with which I set off up the valley. The place was so new, so untouched, so absolutely unknown. The high ridges on either side frowned down austere on the little meadows that smiled back quite unabashed. As I crossed the brown, dry meadow toward the river a covey of quail whirled away before me, lit and paced off at a great rate. Two big grouse roared from a thicket.

The river was a beautiful, clear stream, with green wavy water whirling darkly in pools or breaking white among the stones. As my shadow fell upon it I caught a glimpse of a big trout scurrying into the darkness beneath a boulder. Picking my way among the loose stones, I selected a likely place on the bar and struck home my pick.

I have since repeated the sensations of that day—on a smaller scale, of course—in whirling untold trout waters, some early excitement and enthusiasm, some eager sustained persistence in face of failure, some incredulous slowing down, some ultimate discouragement, disbelieved and disheartened. All that day I shoveled and panned.

All That Day I Shoveled and Panned.

The early morning freshness soon dissipated. Between the high mountain walls the heat reflected. All the quail staid beneath the shade of bushes, their beaks half open, as though panting. The birds that had sung so sweetly in the early morning had somewhere sought repose. I could occasionally catch glimpses of our horses dozing under trees. Even the chirping insects were still. As far as I could make out I was the only living thing foolish enough to stay abroad and awake in this sultry heat. The sweat dripped from me in streams. My eyes ached from the glare of the sun on the rocks and the bleached grasses. Toward the close of the afternoon I confessed wearily to myself that I was just a little glad I had found no gold and that I hoped the others had been equally unfortunate. The thought of working day after day in that furnace heat was too much for me.

My hopes were fulfilled. All came to that night tired, hot, dirty and discouraged. Not one of the eight of us had raised a sign of color.

"Well," said Bagby philosophically, "that's all right. We've just got to go higher. Tomorrow we'll move up stream."

Accordingly next day we turned at right angles to our former route and followed up the bed of the canyon ten or twelve miles toward the distant main ranges.

About 4 o'clock we camped. The flat was green. Little clumps of cedar pushed out across it. The oaks had given place to cottonwoods. We had now to make acquaintance with new birds.

The following morning we went prospecting again. My instructions were for the dry washes in the sides of the hills. Accordingly I scrambled up among the boulders in the nearest V-shaped ravine. I had hardly to look all behind a large boulder lay a little cuplike depression of stones in which evidently had stood a recently evaporated pool of water and which in consequence was free from the usual dusty rubble. In the interstices between the stones my eyes caught a dull glitter. I fell on my knees, dug about with the point of my bowie knife and so unearthed small nuggets aggregating probably a half ounce in weight.

Although mightily tempted to stay for more, I minded our agreement to report promptly the first discovery and started back to camp. Why I did not come a bolder in that fearful boulder stream I cannot tell you. Certainly I took no care of my going, but leaped recklessly from rock to rock like a goat. When I reached the flat I ran, whooping like an Indian. From the river I could see Johnny and Buck Barry running, too, and had sense enough to laugh as it occurred to me they must think me attacked by Indians. Far down the stream I could just make out figures I knew to be Yank and McNally. They, too, seemed to be coming to camp, though I could not imagine that my shouts had carried so far.

I burst in on Bagby, who was smoking his pipe and leisurely washing the breakfast dishes, with a whoop, lifted him bodily by the shoulders, whirled him around in a dizzy dance. He aimed a swipe at me with the wet dishcloth that caught me across the eyes. "Youarnation young grrrrrr!" said he.

I wiped the water from my eyes. Johnny and Buck Barry ran up. Some how they did not seem to be anticipating an Indian attack after all. Johnny ran up to thump me on the back. "Isn't it great?" he cried. "Right off the reel! First pop! Bagby, old sport, you're a wonder!" He started for Bagby, who promptly rushed for his long rifle.

"I'm going to kill the first lunatic I see," he announced.

Tonight, if you will closely examine your teeth after brushing them, you will make a surprising discovery. Though you have been cleaning your teeth regularly, you will find an accumulation of tartar or the enamel and bits of food debris between the crevices. Your denture has not been REALLY CLEANING!

Loss of teeth is usually due to one of two conditions—Pyorrhea or Decay—both of which ordinarily develop only in the mouth where germ-laden tartar is present.

CLEAN your teeth—REALLY CLEAN them! Senreco, a dental specialist's formula will do it. Senreco embodies specially prepared, soluble granules unusually effective in cleaning away food deposits. Moreover, it is particularly destructive to the germ of Pyorrhea.

Go to your dealer today and get a tube of Senreco—keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN and protect your self against Pyorrhea and decay. Send 4c to Senreco, 304 Walnut St., Cincinnati, Ohio, for trial package.

Johnny laughed excitedly and turned back to thump me again. "How did you guess what it was?" I asked.

"Didn't. Just blundered on it." "What?" I yelled. Have you struck it too?

"First shore," said Johnny. "But you don't mean?"

I thrust my three nuggets under his eyes. "Say," broke in Buck Barry, "if you fellows know where the whiskey is hide it and hide it quick. If I see it I'll get drunk!"

Yank and McNally at this moment strolled from around the bushes. We all burst out on them.

"See your fool nuggets and color and raise you this," drawled Yank. And he hauled from his pocket the very largest chunk of virgin gold it has ever been my good fortune to behold. It was irregular in shape, pitted and scored, shaped a good deal like an egg and nearly the size. One pound and a tiny fraction that great nugget balanced when we got around to weighing it. And then to crown the glorious day which the gods were brimming for us came Don Gaspar and Vasquez, trailed by that long and saturnine individual, Missouri Jones. The Spaniards were outwardly calm, but their eyes snapped. As soon as they saw us they waved their hats.

"Ah, also you have found the gold," cried Don Gaspar, sensing immediately the significance of our presence. "We too. It is of good color, there above by the bend." His eyes widened as he saw what Yank held. "Madre Dios!" he murmured.

McNally, who had said and done nothing, suddenly uttered a resounding whoop and stood on his hands. Missouri Jones, taking aim, spat carefully in the center of the fire, missing the display by a calculated and accurate inch.

"The country is just flowing with gold," he pronounced. Then we blew up. We dugged each other, we pounded each other's backs, we emulated McNally's wild Irish whoops, finally we joined hands and danced around and around the remains of the fire, kicking up our heels absurdly. Bagby, a leathery grin on his face, stood off one side. He still held his long barreled rifle, which he presented at who ever dared him. "It tell you just out!" he kept saying over and over. "I'm shootin' lunatics today, and apparently there's plenty of game to choose from."

Although we did not immediately run into the expected thousands, nor did the promise of that first glorious day of discovery quite fulfill itself, nevertheless our new diggings turned out to be very rich. We fell into routine, and the days and weeks slipped by. Bagby and one companion went out every day to hunt or to fish. We took turns at a vacation in camp. Every night we "blew" our day's collection of sand, weighed the gold and packed it away. Our accumulations were getting to be very valuable.

For a month we lived this flylike life quite untroubled and had gradually come to feel that we were so far out of the world that nothing would ever disturb us. The days seemed all alike, clear, sparkling, cloudless. It was my first experience with the California climate, and these things were a perpetual wonder to my New England mind. Then one day when I was camp keeper at the upper end of our long meadow a number of men emerged from the willows and hesitated uncertainly. They were too far away to be plainly distinguishable, but I believed in taking no chances, so I tied my revolver to attract the attention of my companions. They looked up from their libel, saw the men and promptly came into camp. The group still hesitated at the edge of the thicket. Then one of them waved something white. We waved in return, whereupon they advanced slowly in our direction.

As they neared we saw them to be Indians. Their leader held before him a stick to which had been tied a number of white feathers. As they approached us this began to jump and dance to the accompaniment of a weird rising and falling chant. Their corollary did not look very formidable with their heterogeneous mixture of clothing, their round, black, stupid faces and their straight hair. Most of them were armed simply with bows and arrows, but three carried specimens of the long Spanish musket.

The Indians said they wanted to trade.

We replied that we saw nothing they might trade with us.

In return they produced some roots and several small bags of pine nuts. We then explained that we were reduced in ammunition and had little food.

Don Gaspar here interpolated hastily, saying that in his judgment it would be absolutely necessary that we make some sort of a present to avoid the appearance of insulting an affront. Buck Barry and Jones seemed instantly to accept this necessity.

"Give them two or three of the saddle blankets," suggested Barry after a moment's thought. "We will have several light horses going out, and if we have to pad the saddles we can give along with skins or something."

We gave our visitors the blankets therefore. They seemed well pleased, arose and shortly made a primitive sort of a camp a short distance outside our stockade. We did no more washing that day. About 5 o'clock our hunters came in with the best meat of a blacktail deer. Bagby listened attentively to our account of the interview. Then he took a hind quarter of the newly killed buck and departed for the Indians' camp, where he stayed for an hour.

EARLY BLOSSOMED INTO STAR

Miller Huggins Takes Him Early in Iland and He Becomes a Consistent
Winner: Scout George Huff Sees a Promising Player and Lands Him.

By James Jerpe

Some four years ago Barney Dreyfuss was told of a lad from the home health pitching world-beating ball at Akron. Barney sent a man down to Bill Doak, a chap who managed a Federal League team during his shabby existence. By his poor judgment, Pittsburgh lost a good pitcher. In the same way they lost Joe Wood and Grover Alexander.

Of the pitcher the scout would say, "He is not there with that old ginger and he won't do." The pitcher thus lost to Pittsburgh was Bill Doak, leading tosser in the lowest percentage of runs scored two years ago, or in 1913. Unlike the baseball who turned Doak away and kept him from playing in his home town, George Huff, scout for the Cardinals, saw in Doak the makings of a good pitcher. Meanwhile Cincinnati had let Doak go.

Huggins took the youngster in tow. Huggins works the "I'm your friend" act to perfection and what is more Huggins goes good fellowship among all his men, though there are one or two dissenters on his club no matter how much harmony.

In his first year Doak blossomed into a star. His splitter and the control he had over it made him invincible. With a club very low in the two he led the league in the number of runs scored per nine innings. This gives a game losing pitcher on a weak club though he pitches good ball a real average that can't be disputed. Under the old system of games won with a hard-hitting championship club would invariably hold the honor.

Doak's record follows:

1911	recorded by Columbus
1912	returned to Akron
1913	transferred to St. Louis
1914	transferred to St. Louis
1915	transferred to St. Louis

ENGLAND FAILS TO TAKE INTEREST IN OUR NOTES

Protest Over Interference With Mails Virtually Ignored by British Press.

By Associated Press
LONDON, July 15.—Surprising little attention has been given in this country to the American note on seizures of the mails. When published in America only brief and rather exaggerated summaries were sent by the British correspondents. The note was published in full only by the Times on the June 19, several days after the American papers which printed it had arrived in England. On Saturday the Foreign Office issued the text as an official paper for publication on Tuesday (June 27).

Almost the only important editorial reference to the note is made by the Economist in a recent issue. It points out that "owing to lack of information the public in this country has failed to understand the constant references by President Wilson and by leading newspapers in the United States to the question of 'Freedom of the Seas'."

After quoting a large part of the note the Economist says: "It will be seen that a good deal of feeling has been evoked, and that great care and discrimination are required in order not only to meet the susceptibilities of friendly neutrals, but also to avoid the establishment of precedents which, under different circumstances, we should not tolerate ourselves as neutrals in a future naval war."

"Supposing, for example, there were a war between Spain and Sweden, and the belligerents claimed the right to intercept mails between London and Paris or London and New York, and to open all private letters, would that be very strong? It declares that the rights of neutrals are as sacred as the rights of belligerents, and must be as strictly observed, and concludes: 'Only a radical change in the present British and French policy, restoring to Sinn-Felners Revolt.

CORK, Ireland, July 15.—Chagrined by the non-arrival of prisoners who recently were released after undergoing imprisonment since the Dublin rebellion and who were expected here today, a thousand Sinn-Felners wrecked the recruiting office, hissed the military pickets and sang republican songs.
